A. T. A. Discuss Health Insurance

The Alberta Teachers' Association of the Olds School Division and teachers from the Olds School District, held the first meeting of the year in the Didsbury school auditorium on January 22, with Mr. C. Marfleet presiding.

Main business was a discussion of health insurance for members and by Mr. R. Bannister of Garmair. It was decided to contact all teachers in the division and aim at a 75% enrollment in order to partake of M.S.I. group insurance.

Miss Olsen reported on salary following her visit to seminars at various points. Under Mr. Tesky of Olds a resolution was sent to the government asking that impractical American text books be replaced by more suitable Canadian editions.

The meeting approved the following:

"Resolved that teachers of Olds School Division go on record as opposing the action of the Alberta School Athletic Organization in regard to its stand concerning Alberta's entry to the Dominion high school curling playoffs."

Ralph McCall announced his resignation as district representative following his present term of office.

ZELLA NEWS NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johnston were hosts to 13 tables of military whist at the Community Centre last Wednesday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Schrader, Mrs. Harold Braun, Roy McNaughton and Frank Herbert.

Proceeds were divided between the W.I. and the Community Club. Mr. and Mrs. H. Christensen will sponsor the next military whist at the Community Centre on Saturday evening. Details will be available prior to their departure for Calgary.

Mr. Flemming a member of the Calgary Highlanders Pipe Band, led the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Law, Judy and Wendy, and the former's mother, Mrs. C. E. Law, to the head table, where the master of ceremonies, Mr. Al Allen took over.

The Catholic Women's League, at canteens, provided the more than 250 guests with enough fine food to last them for a long period.

Some mentioned that there should be no activity on the stage. There was. It turned out to be a scene which depicted an extraordinary meeting of the "brain can" in the drug store the morning following the last general election. (No further comment on the above-mentioned schmooze.)

During the evening Miss Kay Collins, a former school teacher in Didsbury, a former boarder in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry made with a bouquet of carnations and a few words. Their were other local speakers during the evening but it was all topped off when the chairman, on behalf of their friends, present or otherwise, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Law an original oil scene which depicts the harvest scenes we can see west of Didsbury when the crops are in bloom and the "Rockies" are smiling down on the "happy spot."

Mr. and Mrs. Law and Wendy left on Tuesday to take up residence in Calgary — the last word from George — "We'll be seeing you!"

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Adams have moved up to Boch's sawmill camp for the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Atkinson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Blain on Saturday evening.

Little Lynn Lougheed suffered a bout with the 'flu last week and we hope that by now she is up and feeling much better.

We are sorry to hear Mr. Lyle is not well again and that he has returned to the City Belcher hospital for further treatment.

The Ladies Aid is sponsoring a turkey dinner on Friday, Jan. 28th. This will be served beginning at 6 p.m. and continue until all attending have been served.

The congregation very cordially invites its members and many friends in the entire parish to attend these special anniversary celebrations.

Didsbury Ramblers are strictly on the move and at the last count were sitting on top of the Chinook Hockey League. Since our last report the locals have won two league games and were edged out in overtime in an exhibition game with a Calgary team.

Results of the results:

DIDSURY 7 — TROUCH 2

Playing in Trochu last Thursday night the Ramblers picked up two valuable points when they threw a 7-2 lacing into the Trochu entry in the Chinook Hockey League. The outcome was never very much in doubt as Didsbury stayed with the opposition for two periods and then allowed them who was less than a minute from the final whistle. The Ramblers went ahead by 3-2 in the sandwich session and out-scored their opponents by five goals in the last 20 minutes.

Goal scorers for the Ramblers were Miller McCoy and Lloyd Devine with two; Laverne Neufeld, Wayne Shantz, and Carl Morris picked up the singletons. Amists went to McLean (2), Morgan (2), M. McCoy, Wilkins and Devine.

CALGARY 5 — DIDSURY 4

One of the better exhibition hockey games played here in many a moon was witnessed in the arena on Saturday night. An overtime battle resulted in a win for the visitors but in any overtime contest the fans will always get their entrance fee back in thrills and enjoyment.

One of the features of the game was the fact that Ken Papke and Ron Brummel were working on the side of the opposition.

Wayne Shantz and McLean were the top men for Didsbury with two goals each.

DIDSURY 6 — OLDS 4

After a slow start, Didsbury Ramblers came from behind in a first period 2-0 deficit and went on to defeat Olds "Bees" 6-4, in overtime.

Miller was the big gun for Olds as he dropped three in the net, two in the first period and one in the second. Devine and Miller McCoy both scored twice for Didsbury with Laverne Neufeld and Trev Morgan adding the extras.

Amists went to: McLean (2), Irwin, McCoy and Morgan picking up one each.

A feature of the game was the game-winning score by McCoy at four minutes of the overtime session and Pickles (Trig) Morgan got his first goal of the season as he decked in the empty goal and foisted the net completely by hitting it.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR !!!

The Editor,

Didsbury Pioneer:
I have been criticized for daring to speak about health from the point of view. Please me all the more ready to speak out on my convictions.

Every doctor worth his salt is working to put himself out of a job. No doctor would stand up and say that he wished disease to continue in order to give him a job.

It follows naturally that to abolish hospitals is also a desirable goal, not prematurely while there are sick people around.

We are building bigger and bigger hospitals. We are spending millions and millions on them; an enormous staff is employed fighting disease and costing us an awful sum of money. Great drug houses are drawing millions from people's pockets for their products.

It is my contention that we could cut down our hospitals by at least 75 per cent if we lived the way we ought to live.

Any hospital is an advance on the old days when the sick suffered with little or no skilled care. The scientific methods doctors are using are greatly to be preferred to quickies, but even so we should think twice about our hospitals.

As I see new wings being added to hospitals, and city people so proud of their great hospitals, I want to state my conviction that we ought to be ashamed of our hospitals because they are reflecting the way we are living.

The ingenuity of doctors, it is related to the moral government of the world, and we will never get rid of disease while we ignore this.

We need to reorient our minds and seek health primarily in a way of life that is harmonious and health producing.

We are going the wrong way

In these words a wise doctor is pointing us back to the cause of most of our trouble. It is in the worries, anxieties, and selfishness that characterize our daily life.

In a profound remark Dr. V. Heiser makes in his book "An American Doctor's Odyssey": "The more I saw of private practice the more I came to consider it a retail effort. The prevention of disease on a wholesale basis appealed to me far more."

It is this "Wholesale method of dealing with disease that I am interested in. Next week I amplify and clarify what I mean.

Local Church To Celebrate 50th Birthday

On Feb. 2, 1966, a small group of Lutheran living around Westcott, adopted and signed a constitution and thus brought into existence St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Westcott. This then, marks the beginning of organized Lutheran work in the Didsbury parish. Work was immediately made and work was begun on a church building. In January 1969 this was dedicated to the glory of God. In God's blessings, the congregation grew, and the work in the parish flourished.

About 1915, as a result of an influx of a number of Lutheran families in the town of Didsbury, regular services were begun. At first, these were held in private homes, the Durie Funeral Home, and finally in the Seventh Day Adventist church. On December 21, 1927, St. John's Lutheran Church, Didsbury was organized, and the group early in the spring of 1928 purchased the old Baptist Church at their own place of worship. God also richly blessed this congregation.

With better roads and faster transportation, both congregations decided to join hands and build a new church in Didsbury. Work was begun in 1947 and the present building — Redeemer Lutheran Church — dedicated on October 31, 1948.

And since, fifty years of work in the Didsbury parish have flowed into history. To commemorate these fifty years, Redeemer Lutheran Church plans to hold its Golden Anniversary services on Sunday, Feb. 2. A former pastor of the parish, Rev. A. Reiner, professor at Concordia College, Edmonton, will serve as guest speaker. Holy Communion will also be celebrated at this service. Therefore, the service will begin at 10:30 in the morning.

In the evening, under the auspices of the Walther League, a program high-lighting the Golden Anniversary will be presented in the church basement.

We are sorry to hear Mr. Lyle is not well again and that he has returned to the City Belcher hospital for further treatment.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD J. FULCHER

Livestock production on the farm is not just the raising of a few animals, it is a part or section of your farming business. The particular animal must be in balance with farm economy, in harmony with the farm topography and be liked and understood by the farm operator. It requires time and money to operate and must therefore pay dividends if it has any value.

Why should we be so concerned with the selection of the live stock? The previous mentioned factors are part of the answer, poor or misjudged selection may not give returns but only provide plenty of work. In many cases the enterprises do not suit the farm, in others they are not to the liking of the operator, in many more they lack the required volume and in some they are just a group of small sections which do not pay. The factors all lead to poor returns and discourage the producer. We have heard and rightly so that rotations with a grain and grass production program are required to care for the land in this area. These programs will produce high qualities of feed stuffs in the form of grain, hay and straw. These are not always marketable. We know how great hay in surplus has value but they do not provide cash for operating expenses or daily living. The best market to balance with the farm field production can be provided with livestock. They will convert your field crops into a product which the consumer, who is your ultimate market, can and will use.

In this case a suitable livestock enterprise no blueprint can be used, every farmer is an individual operator as an individual farm. We must therefore select a livestock enterprises which will do the following thing. Suit the farm and its cropping program, not overtax the capital or labor available, be large enough to have volume and allow for efficient production, be liked by the operator and above all else provide satisfactory returns.

The buildings and equipment for any livestock enterprise must be considered. In some cases alterations of existing buildings would do, in other new construction must be considered. In either case it must be the spending of money, and in many cases the money is not available. If this is the case one must consider what livestock enterprise could make the most efficient use of the existing buildings and use a pattern of production that they will serve.

Just For The Record . . .

Our hockey Ramblers will hold the reins sports-wise for the rest of the season, as far as we are concerned. The curlers had to give up, following several attempts to get a playing surface. The more enthusiastic ones are travelling north to play in one of our suburban rinks. Twas the weather that caused all the trouble — the first time it's happened in . . . how many years did you say? Come to think of it, some of the district clubs might pick up a few fanaticics from the town ranks. We understand there's one east of town and one out west that may be able to accommodate a few more.

Now We Can Report . . .

That wee bridge we have been beefing about — the one which lies between us and the main highway — has been undergoing a facelift (widened and paved up properly). It's now solid and smooth across the main portion; a wee bit rough on the approaches. A minor detail after what we have been used to.

And A Friendly Nod To . . .

To the organizers of the "Law" family party which was held in the school auditorium Friday evening. There were a few clowns on the stage during the night but there were no clowns in evidence in the audience. A fine tribute and a fond farewell to "The Laws", from the people who knew them best.

Another Famous Quote . . .

A Detroit hockey player of some note, Goalie Terry Sawchuck, is a professional in more ways than one. Once, when talking to the Tom Thumb pucksters in a large city, he said: "It's nice to be important, but more important to be nice."

Research Council On Hail Hunt . . .

Study of hail is still bothering the Alberta research council and further expenditures is to be recommended to the legislature next month.

This was announced Thursday by the Hon. Gordon Taylor, chairman of the research council, who said:

"The research carried under the Alberta hail studies has not yet advanced to the place where conclusions can be drawn in connection with hail suppression."

Taylor remained discreet about any results drawn from the independent WRDC experiments last summer over a 4,000 square mile area of southern Alberta. He reported: "The activities were watched with considerable interest . . . there was a considerable exchange of information between Alberta hail studies and WRDC even though they operated independently."

The WRDC experiment in cloud seeding was conducted with funds levied on the farmers after a plebeia permit by special Act of the legislature.

The council plans research on hail for another two years, with particular reference to the effects of cloud seeding as well as local peculiarities of hail, atmospheric conditions and static electricity in cloud formations.

The program was a result of cooperation with the federal "met" department, the national research council, McGill University, provincial departments of agriculture and the RCMP, which used radar. Edmonton weather office started a study of air masses.

AND IT WAS JULIE . . .

Driving home from the dance the wife found herself getting more and more upset at her husband's lavish compliments regarding the beauty of one of the guests.

"That just goes to prove," she said, "that all a woman has to do is wear a darling formal and the men go mad."

"Now that's where you're being unfair, my dear," replied the husband. "I was being frank about it. I didn't even notice Julie's dress. What did it look like?"

"In most places," snapped the wife, "a lot like Julie!"

Squirrel Cage . . .

BANGS VACCINATION

The fall drive for the vaccination of ALL heifer calves is now almost completed. The total of calves that were vaccinated against the dreaded Bangs disease during 1957 is up from 1956.

During 1956 in Mountain View the Veterinarians did a total of 11,231. During the same year there were 847 adult female cattle tested with a total of 42 reactors.

During 1957 the total of heifers calves vaccinated was 12,083 while there were 987 tested for auction sales and 49 reactors.

New regulations on cattle entering the United States call for the calfhood vaccination of all heifer calves, even those being brought in as feeders or slaughter material. This will definitely put a premium on all vaccinated heifers.

We have been trying all methods to carry out a complete vaccination program covering all heifer calves under their care whether intended for breeding stock or for slaughter.

The new U.S. border regulations now imposed point out the wisdom of our having carried out a complete vaccination program. The only sure way to stamp out Brucellosis or Bangs disease is to make sure that every heifer calf from every calf crop is immunized against the disease by vaccination.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Rev. Norman Jamieson showed pictures of his work in Japan last Tuesday in chapel. It is of interest to all of us to note how eagerly Japanese receive Gospel tracts and read them. Also some very capable Japanese have given up lucrative jobs to proclaim the fellowship of Jesus Christ an open door for missionary activity today.

A number of students went home over the weekend. Some went on Gospel team work and others gave themselves diligently to assignments that needed to be done here. College life is a busy one and students arrange their work in a way that will allow them the greatest number of opportunities as well. Basketball activities are carried on among the girls as well as the boys this year. Margaret McGinnis, Ont., is assisting in these arrangements.

President Taylor and Mrs. Taylor were fortunate in being able to hear the organ recital in Central Church, Didsbury, Friday evening. They and Mr. Carpenter were guests of friends for the occasion.

Miss Seymour of Edmonton, a registered nurse working in Beulah Home for the winter months, and formerly of Northern England, was a guest in the college last week. She attended classes as much as possible and enjoyed it very much. She spoke in chapel on Friday morning and gave some of her experiences. We are hoping she will register next fall.

The school property in which the Dan Neufelds now live has been sold to the college. Rev. D. C. Eby bought it recently and will make the final arrangements the beginning of the month.

Mr. Eby was guest speaker on behalf of missions in May City Missionary Church on Sunday. This month will conclude the work she is doing for the Women's Missionary Society in the conference. The objective of the society this year is $6000. Each year their objective has been realized with several hundred dollars additional funds. We hope it will be so again.

Mr. Arthur Eby attended the Sunday School convention held in Calgary this year. Miss Addie Takanaka from the college went with her and stayed for both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Get well wishes are being sent out to Mrs. Harold Shells, who again is a patient in Didsbury hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wagner were Calgary visitors, where they called on the latter's sick mother.

THE ROMANTIC TOUCH ! ! ! Three past-70 gentlemen were exchanging views on the way they would prefer to leave this vale of tears.

"I don't want to linger," said one. "Let me be killed instantly in an auto accident."

"I feel the same way," said the second, "only to make sure it's quick." "I like my end to some in a 'plain crash.'"

"What about you, Jed?" the first asked him.

"I think," the older replied. "I'd like to be shot by a jealous husband."

"I'm going to retain our old-time vigor, then young and old must get out of their seats, and cease being a race of riders and spectators."

OREMONA NEWS

A dancing dance for Mr. and Mrs. J. Pawson was held in the Cremona hall on January 24th. A large crowd was in attendance and the band did a good job.

The curling rink is closed and ready for curlers.

The grade ten drama class will present a play at the school auditorium on January 31st.

(Intended For Last Week)

Mrs. C. Bird is in the Didsbury hospital. Best wishes for an early recovery.

Westcott News

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The last card party at the Westcott school was quite a success. Winners in money were Mr. Clarence Larson and Mr. Frank Scammonville; consolations went to Mrs. Delbert Klinck and Mr. Herman Dageford.

Winners at what were: Mrs. Margaret Dageford and Mr. D. Hayball with Miss Norma Larson and Mr. Donald Fischer being consolation winners.

The travelling prize, donated by Mr. Sid Willow of Westcott Store, was also won by Mr. Donald Fischer.

Mr. Robert Goetjen was a guest at the Walters-Schaffer wedding in Didsbury last Saturday.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Joe Kryklywda is improving steadily and greatly improved in health.

Mrs. Henry Wilshusen and baby son are reported to have come home from hospital at the weekend.

ONE DOESN'T BELONG ! ! !

Husband: "Do you know how many really great men there are in this country?"

Wife: "No, but I'll bet there is one less than you think."

A NATION OF SITTERS

Education is not the only race the people of this continent may lose to the Russians. Physical fitness is another. Some statistics have stated that the children of North America are lacking in stamina. Their leg and abdominal muscles are far weaker than they should be. They are more prone to certain diseases of the bones and organs of movement than were the children of a few generations back.

In the old days children had chores to do, walked miles to school and played outside. The modern child has few, if any, regular chores; sits around inside and rides everywhere.

If we are going to retain our old-time vigor, then young and old must get out of their seats, and cease being a race of riders and spectators.
